Domestic Violence: It's Everyone's Business

Rally Features Teri Jendusa Nicolai

"I'm just your neighbor....I'm from your neighborhood. I was educated. I went to college. I had a very good family yet I fell into this."

These are words from Teri Jendusa Nicolai in a Fox TV interview last January, ten years after her harrowing experience of Domestic Violence from her abusive ex-husband (see story below). For a number of years Teri has been traveling the country speaking out against Domestic Violence and trying to help as many as she can.

Teri Jendusa Nicolai will be the featured speaker at Community Crisis Center's Domestic Violence Rally at 7:00 pm in Spartan Auditorium on the Campus of Elgin Community College.

The Rally is the culmination of a number of Domestic Violence Awareness Events which will take place throughout the month of October.

October Awareness activities (details on page 2) will include educational lectures and discussions, an experiential exercise that will help the participant understand the ups and downs a battered woman lives over the course of many years, and information tables at local colleges and libraries

Another highlight of the month is the annual Partners In Peace Breakfast October 10 at 7:30 am in the Elgin Country Club, when Community Crisis Center honors those who have in their professional capacity have provided outstanding services to victims of Domestic Violence.

Teri's story

Teri Jendusa Nicolai is a true survivor. On January 31 of 2004, Teri's ex-husband tried to murder her.

She had gone to her ex-husband's home to pick up her two girls when he lured her into the house, then attacked.

He hit her in the head 10 times with a baseball bat, bound her hands and feet with duct tape and stuffed her in a garbage can.

Using her wits, Teri played dead, but managed to call 911 alerting the police that she was in trouble.

The police, unfortunately, arrived at the home after the truck carrying the garbage can was gone. This did, however spark a two state hunt for the missing woman.

Her ex then took her to an unheated storage locker where she was found 26 hours later. The doctors said she was less than an hour from death.

The ordeal resulted in the loss of her toes to frostbite, and other injuries.

And, it was a busy summer. . .

From fundraisers to building repairs, it has been a busy summer at the Crisis Center. With your help, we ate heartily at a "Sweet Tomatoes" Fundraiser, sang along with "Musicians on a Mission," and marched in the Elgin 4th of July Parade (did you see us? were you with us?)

And did you attend a block party, or other "National Night

Out" evening event? Volunteers and staff attended to provide community Crisis Center information to persons in Campton Hills, Bartlett, Carpentersville, and South Elgin, and provided information for the Block Parties and for the Festival Park Party in Elgin.

In addition you may have spotted volunteers at the Elgin Harvest Market or eaten a treat supplied by us at a Festival Park movie night.

Project Backpack, which serves children in Community College District 509, collected more than 2,800 backpacks filled with school supplies thanks to the generosity of many persons in the community. Now on to fall.....

Terry's flowers.

Did you plant your seeds? Wonder what kind of flower garden we would have if you all sent copies of your pictures. You can send them by clicking here.

Send Pictures

Last week I ran into Terry Gray, one of our volunteers. She showed me pictures of the flowers that bloomed in her garden from the seeds which were used as party favors for the spring auction. What beautiful flowers sprouted from those small seeds.

I was reminded of the work that goes on here on a daily basis. We are in the business of planting seeds of hope, and like Terry's flowers, often those seeds grow into beautiful flowers of success, healing, and health.

We could not do it without you!
Thanks for all you do to create a community where hope is possible!
